'Strike and Be Damned,' His High Price Solution

Secretary of Federal Commission Wants Drastic Action to End Wage Demands

BALTIMORE, Jan. 15.—If manufacturers whose employees threaten to strike for higher wages would tell their workmen to "strike and be damned," there would be less trouble, wages would not advance and prices, influenced by wages, would gradually get back to normal, in the opinion of J. B. Blumenthal, secretary of the Federal Fair Price Commission.

"Strike and be damned" would be a motto, said Blumenthal today. "The constant demand of wage earners for more money is one thing that is keeping prices up. The installment houses and other concerns selling on the time-payment plan are also doing their bit in keeping things high. The workers, wanting their salaries in advance to buy things they do not need, find they need money, and they immediately inform their employers they must have higher wages."

Deaf Mutes to Aid Hunt For Murderer of Girl

Conference Called in Louisville, at Which They Will Make Plans for Search

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 15.—A meeting of deaf mutes of this city has been called in the belief that they may be able to help the police solve the mystery of the murder of Rebecca Lovell, a deaf mute, whose body was found in a park pavilion. A hall was obtained today, but no plan of action has been announced.

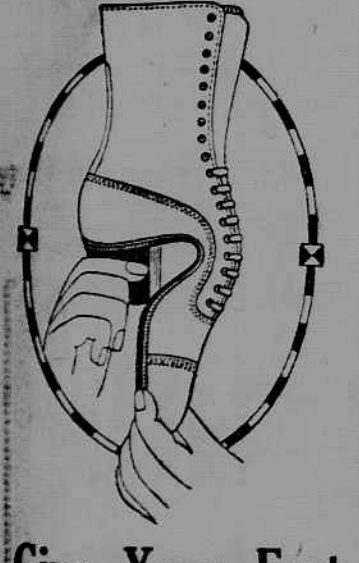

In the meantime the police have obtained a letter believed to have been written after the girl's disappearance. From the announced intention of the authorities to keep secret the contents, it is assumed the letter provides some clue to the identity of the slayer.

Word came from Birmingham, Ala., today that a man is held there for investigation. The prisoner is a deaf mute, who is believed to have fled from Louisville after the murder. The police refuse to disclose his name.

"Bone Dry" Nation From the Outset Seen by Officials

Enforcement Machinery Incomplete in Some States, They Say, but Scrutiny Will Prevent Violations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—While the enforcement machinery of the Federal government is incomplete in several states, national prohibition officials today declared that no great difficulty is expected in the enforcement of the prohibitory amendment, which becomes effective on Monday.

John F. Kremer, prohibition commissioner, declared today that in most of the states the government's organization is perfected, and where the organization is incomplete, the department is placed on the collectors of internal revenue to continue the enforcement duties now prevailing under war-time prohibition.

Superior agencies have been appointed in the ten districts of the country, except the New York district, and in all of these the organizations have been perfected. Colonel Porter, who is now in charge of the New York district, which includes the New York city, Long Island, Connecticut and Rhode Island, will continue in charge until a new supervisor has been selected. It was said today at Commissioner Kremer's office.

The enforcement officials will keep the liquor traffic under close scrutiny at all times. Each state will have a Federal prohibition director with inspectors under his direction. The director will have charge of the legal use of liquor and keep check on physicians, druggists and dispensers of soft drinks. The director will also be in charge of internal revenue agents, who will see to it that the illegal use of intoxicants. Cooperation is expected between the two enforcing agencies to the end that the nation will be kept absolutely bone dry.

Both Daniel T. Roper, chief of the Internal Revenue Office, and prohibition Commissioner Kremer today expressed confidence that the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment would be obeyed. Both discredited the statement that there will be a "continuous run on doctors' offices for 'wet' prescriptions." If doctors are found to disregard the law in issuing prescriptions a fine every ten days, a maximum that can be prescribed to any individual—their Federal permits will be withdrawn.

The safety of the 60,000,000 gallons of liquor in government bonded warehouses is threatened unless Congress appropriates $2,000,000 to establish a system of watchmen over this property. Commissioner Kremer said today. He presented his request to the House Committee on Appropriations yesterday, stating that the massive quantities of liquor after constitutional prohibition became effective would be so few as not to pay the expenses of maintaining the guard.

The law provides that it is unlawful to sell liquor for beverage purposes. Permission is given to individuals, however, to have intoxicants in their dwelling for the use of their families and guests.

Individuals holding intoxicating liquors for non-beverage purposes must give a bond and procure a permit before January 27, setting forth to the government the complete details of the kind and amount of liquor held on January 17.

Liquors found in storage warehouses or places other than private dwellings after February 1 and to report of the quantity having been made to the government, will be considered prima facie evidence of illegal possession.

Sam Browne Belts Favored by Wood

Would End Regulation Restricting It Only to Those Who Saw Oversea Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the Central Department of the army, who was deprived of overseas service by the War Department and therefore is not entitled to wear the much-discussed Sam Browne belt, would have the army equipment regulations amended to make the belt a part of the uniform, the War Department announced today.

General Wood, with other officers present at the conference of general officers now being held here discussed changes in uniform at the session.

"I find that in the Central Department practically all the officers want to be authorized to wear the Sam Browne belt," General Wood said. "I think the belt gives the officer a little better dress uniform, especially if we are going to have this olive drab uniform."

Later General Wood moved that the belt be adopted as a part of the uniform, and the unanimous vote of the officers present agreed to recommend to the General Staff that the belt be authorized.

Secretary of War Baker today said he would give careful consideration to all recommendations laid before the department by the conference of officers now in session. His personal opinion, however, he said, was against any change in the present United States Army uniform.

Labor Leaders Consider Stand on Sedition Bill

Statement Soon To Be Issued Is Expected to Strongly Denounce Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A conference was held today in American Federation of Labor headquarters for the purpose of reaching a decision relative to the position of labor toward the sedition bill. Federation officials and representatives of a number of sympathetic organizations attended the meeting.

No statement was issued at the close of the session, but it is expected one will be issued tomorrow. It is indicated that the statement, when issued, will denounce the sedition bill severely.

The Graham bill, which carries the death penalty, was today described by one member of the conference as "more dangerous than the Cummins bill."

"The bill is aimed to prevent strikes," this member said.

24-Carat Club Entertains 4,000 Imitation Gems Used in Brooch at Jewelers' Dinner

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The New York City Jewelers' Association, the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, of Buffalo, and Howard McSherry, counsel for the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, spoke last night at the annual dinner of the Twenty-four Carat Club, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The club is composed of jewelers.

Above the guest table was a large representation of a platinum brooch, containing 4,000 imitation jewels. The table was named after various precious stones. A suitable farewell was said to the "wet" regime.

Many Leap to Escape Fire That Kills 2 Men

300 Trapped in New Haven Blaze Jump Into Nets or Fight Way to Street

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 15.—Trapped by an explosion and fire which barred every avenue of escape 300 tenants of the Chamber of Commerce office building here this afternoon fought for their lives and escaped only by leaping two or three stories into fire nets, descending fire ladders or crowding down a single fire escape to the ground. Two persons were killed and fifty partially suffocated by the smoke that penetrated thickly into their offices.

The dead are State Senator Charles W. Everts, health officer for New Haven County, and Nicholas Everli, the engineer in charge of the building. Everts was overcome by smoke and was taken unconscious in an ambulance to Grace Hospital. He died on the way. Senator Everts was a Yale graduate and considered a brilliant lawyer. His home was in Milford, and he leaves a family. Everli was a victim of the explosion which caused the fire. The boiler burst because of lack of water. Everli, it is believed, had discovered this condition and was endeavoring to remedy it when the explosion occurred.

Twenty-five young women were taken from the building unconscious from fright or smoke, but all were revived after being taken to their homes. Mrs. James J. Campbell, Blohm Street, West Haven, was taken to St. Raphael's Hospital. She recovered this evening.

Inventor Exhibits Helicopter in Flight

Test of Model With Revolving Wings Is Witnessed by Flying Club Committee

A demonstration flight of a model helicopter was made before representatives of the American Flying Club contest committee in the laboratory of William J. Beach, 125 East Twenty-third Street, yesterday.

The model is a departure from all proposed types of helicopters and has been placed before the War Department in Australia. In yesterday's demonstration, the model was equipped with small motors driven by compressed air, which caused it to rise vertically about two feet.

Mr. Beach said he hopes to build a full-sized machine shortly capable of lifting a man and flying at will in the air. In order to compete for the $100,000 prize offered by M. M. Micheli, the French aviation enthusiast, for the first successful flight with a helicopter. The machine invented by Mr. Beach has two revolving wings. These wings, the machine directly into the air and support it. It is in the application of the power to turn these wings that the patent lies.

Cole J. Younger, vice-chairman of the American Flying Club contest committee, who witnessed the demonstration, said the model showed very promising results, and if it could be developed to fly horizontally, supported by the revolving wings, might have an important bearing on the future development of aviation.

Tabor Accuses Mother in Death of Daughter

She Chloroformed Mrs. Virgo and Hid Body, Police Say

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 15.—Walter Tabor, brother of Maude Tabor Virgo, whose body was found buried in the cellar of the Tabor homestead at Lawton last November, was arrested tonight after he had given a deputy sheriff a signed statement implicating his mother, Mrs. Sarah Tabor, in the death of her daughter. Van Buren County authorities announced. He is being held as a witness.

According to the officers, Tabor's statement declared his mother, now eighty years old, chloroformed Mrs. Virgo, and that he had removed the body to the cellar, where it was placed in the woman's "hope chest" and covered with lumber. The motive, Tabor was quoted as saying, was his mother's desire to prevent the disclosure of her property with Joseph C. Virgo's child.

New Found Guilty of Second Degree Murder

Jury Deadlocked for Almost Forty-four Hours Before Returning Verdict

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Harry New was found guilty today of second degree murder in connection with the shooting and killing of his fiancée, Freda Lesser, in Topanga Canyon, near here. A jury in Superior Judge Gavin W. Craig's court returned the verdict shortly before noon, after having been deadlocked for nearly forty-four hours, and to prevent a verdict was a recommendation that the court order the defendant placed in an institution for a "reasonable length of time, for observation as to his mental condition."

Lecompte Davis, leading counsel for the defense, announced a motion for a new trial would be made Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the time set by Judge Craig for pronouncing sentence, and said an appeal to the State Supreme Court would be taken if the motion was denied.

participated in "John Barleycorn's Funeral Ball," which gained "pre-eminence" fame because William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, didn't give of this $5-a-cover affair were edged with mourning borders, and in the attendance in connection with the "last rites" and ceremonies attending the departure of our spirited friend. The souvenirs for the women mourners were small vanity cases in the form of coffins.

Guests Must Bring "Their Own" As Bowman hotels, the Commodore, Biltmore, Vanderbilt, Manhattan, Ansonia, Belmont and Murray Hill, there will be celebrations to-night. There won't be any special dinner, but many thousands of reservations have been made. It was said yesterday that the diners would be permitted to bring their own liquor and that the management had been unable to figure out any scheme to prevent their patrons from continuing to drink.

Similar conditions are true of the du Pont hotels, which include the Waldorf-Astoria, the McAlpin and the Claridge. New Year's Eve these hotels gave away a pint of champagne to each pair of diners, but it was said yesterday that this would not be repeated. The alcoholic store was expected to be a pint of champagne to each guest. The party was said to be a success and with dawn Saturday the menus will bear a printed request that patrons obey the law and refrain from introducing alcoholic beverages into the dining room.

At Maxine's there will be a number of those "original" affairs, a funeral for John Barleycorn. Waiters and bartenders, the announcements said, would be dressed as pall-bearers. This party does not start until half an hour before midnight, which gives just thirty-one minutes for a strictly legal celebration.

The Hotel Majestic was one of the places which started its wine-up celebration last night. It was a dinner that began at 6 o'clock and lasted for a full round of the clock. There was a special check-room with trucks carrying bundles of liquor could leave them with trustworthy and teetotal attendants.

Climax of Funeral Ball

The climax of the funeral ball came when six waiters, garbed as pall-bearers, entered with a real casket. Jack Davis, impersonating "the public," stalked behind as chief mourner, 200 waiters trailing behind him in slow procession, keeping step to the strains of the "Funeral March." Dan Healy wore the sombre costume of the cartoonist's "prohibitionist," but from his hip pocket a tell-tale bottle protruded.

In the midst of the funeral procession, a waiter, carrying a tray, presented with a flask containing what looked like perfectly good whisky. Amusement and disappointment were the mixed emotions when, sampling it, they found the flask to contain cold tea.

Increasing in Rentals, Prices and Taxes in This City Seen by 'Wets'

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—In a statement showing the prospective increases in municipal taxes which are expected to result from national prohibition, the prohibition forces here today said:

"A big increase in municipal taxes appears to be the means most generally adopted by affected cities in meeting the budget problems produced by national prohibition. Virtually all that have replied to inquiries indicate the license taxes on other businesses have been or are going to be boosted, in some cases as much as 40 per cent. In a great many, substantial increases in the general tax rate has been made in order to make up deficits caused by the loss of revenues produced by prohibition."

"In the State of New York the total revenue received from liquor tax certificates, transfer fines, penalties and volume tax for much as $20 per cent. September 30, 1918, was $22,816,442.77. New York City alone derived a net revenue for the five boroughs of $8,333,612.72."

"The statement predicts that as a result of this loss New York City is in for increased taxes, increased rents and a general increase in the already high cost of living."

Two Grounds Left On Which 'Dry' Law Will Be Attacked

Hugh Fox, secretary of the United States Brewers' Association, said the prohibition amendment was due to be attacked on two more points before the liquor interests gave up the legal fight. The Supreme Court, he explained, has yet to pass on the question of whether Congress had the right to define intoxicants, and must decide on the scope and meaning of the proviso in the amendment that "Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to pass appropriate legislation for enforcement."

"If the Supreme Court," he added, "should finally uphold the right of Congress to establish a definition of one-half of 1 per cent for the purpose of enforcing national prohibition and that the states have no power in the matter, the effect would be to put under and many so-called 'soft drink' under the ban."

"Meanwhile," said Mr. Fox, "the enforcement measure, which is now known as the national prohibition act, will, if sustained by the courts, deprive accused persons of a trial by jury and make them prove their innocence. No physician will be able to prescribe alcohol in any form without submitting to vexatious regulations from the State."

"The time and trouble that a busy doctor could not afford to be bothered with them."

Mr. Fox predicted that regulations to

Rhode Island 'Wets' to Fight 'Drys' at Polls

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 15.—The Providence Retail Liquor Dealers' Association today voted to organize to "defeat for reelection any candidates who were instrumental in bringing about prohibition and all new candidates for public office understood to be unfavorable to a 'proper' solution of the present problem."

The amendment was put over on us at a time when the rumors of a party test from us would have been branded as pro-German," declared John Thompson, president of the local association. Most of the saloons here will remain open for the sale of such soft drinks as the law, "such as it is," will allow, until "the issue has been fought out to a finish," according to Mr. Thompson.

'Be a Good Sport,' Is Advice of Anderson

William H. Anderson drove the water wagon up to New York's door yesterday, so as to have it ready for everybody to climb aboard at midnight this evening. He said there was room for all. The Anti-Saloon League superintendent endeavored to be gentle and firm about it at the same time.

"Be a good sport about it," he said, in an exhortatory sort of statement. "No more falling off the water wagon! The Anti-Saloon League is going to assume the prerogative of spokesmanship will help you keep your pledge. But he needs your help, too, he is to keep 100,000,000 respecting the law. He needs your help, too, he is to keep 100,000,000 respecting the law. He needs your help, too, he is to keep 100,000,000 respecting the law."

Mr. Anderson closes with quotations from "Mr. Dooley" and Abraham Lincoln.

State Clears Roads Of Snow for 'Wets'

HORNELL, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Thanks to the humanness of some one in the New York State Department of Public Works, the roads leading into New York will be cleared of snow to-morrow, the fateful day of the approach of national prohibition. Under a special permit from Daniel C. Roper, of the Internal Revenue Department, wine makers in the great Lakes-Keuka sections were told to sell their vintage direct to consumers.

There were 70,000 cases of champagne in the hands of the State Department. The news that the ban had been lifted until the 18th permeated through the state, and automobiles began to come from the distant cities.

On the heels of the order permitting the sale came the worst snowstorm this part of the state has known in years. Hundreds of cars were marooned and unable to get through to Hammond's and the other wine centers. An appeal was made to the State Highway Department to get the roads open. In a flash came the order. This morning crowds of men and big trucks went to work, and to-night the "all clear" signal was sounded.

Church to Fight Radicals

Archbishop Hayes Calls for 100,000 Volunteers

Archbishop Patrick Hayes, speaking last night at the first convention of the New York Branch of the Catholic Federation of the United States held since 1916, at the Commodore Hotel, called for 100,000 men and women workers in an immediate campaign of the Church to aid in social reconstruction and to combat radical tendencies throughout the diocese.

The 500 laity and clergy present, representing 2,500,000 Catholics of New York City, unanimously went on record as opposed to Bolshevism in any form and "all economic heresies that imply disloyalty."

Joseph H. Faggis, who presided at last night's session, is the president of the New York Branch, Frank W. Smith and William J. Kapp were chosen vice-presidents, Joseph V. Mitchell was re-elected treasurer and Paul T. Kammerer was chosen secretary.

Congress May Recess June 5

Mondell Expects Passage of Appropriation Measures by April 1

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Representative Mondell, Republican leader, issued a statement today saying that the House might pass all of the general appropriation measures by April 1. In that event, he asserted, Congress could adjourn on June 5, three days before the opening of the Republican National Convention.

Two of the big supply bills, one for the Indian Affairs Bureau and the other for the Postoffice Department, already have been passed. Eleven others are still to be acted upon.

Here's a List of Dry Law 'Don'ts'

After midnight to-night it will be unlawful:

To make or sell intoxicating liquor without a permit from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

To carry liquor with you, "on the hip" or in any other way.

To tell any one where he can get a drink.

To own or sell any apparatus for making liquor.

To make hard cider from sweet or by any means to put a kick into bevo or grape juice.

To tell any one how he can make liquor.

To distribute any tablet or substance to be used in making liquor.

To possess any liquor, EXCEPT: In your own home; in a United States bonded warehouse; on an authorized physician's prescription; for sacramental purposes.

To sell even non-intoxicating cider or fruit juices except to persons with licenses to make vinegar.

To advertise liquor for sale, or formulas whereby liquor can be made.

To give liquor to any one except for consumption in your own home immediately after the gift.

To exchange anything for liquor or one kind of liquor for another.

To import or export liquor.

The penalty for illegally making or selling liquor is: For a first offense, a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than six months; for a subsequent offense, a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $2,000, in addition to imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than five years.

Relief Committee Formed To Aid Hungry Austrians

Thousands of Children in Vienna Are in Need of Food, It Is Announced

Formation of the American Relief Committee for Sufferers in Austria was announced here last night in connection with an appeal to the American people to contribute for the purchase of supplies.

Frederick C. Penfield, formerly American Ambassador to Austria, was chosen honorary chairman of the committee, which includes Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, of New York; Frank A. Vanderlip, Henry Morgenthau, Otto H. Kahn, H. P. Whitney, Henry Seligman, H. F. Sinclair, Charles Hayden, Henry W. Taft and Frank A. Munsey.

Speedy action is urgent, it was said, because of the shortage of food supplies of the various relief societies in Vienna. The thousands of dependent children there no longer are given free food at public kitchens established by the American Relief Administration. European Children's Fund, unless physicians have pronounced them below normal in nourishment. Those who do receive food and who in the opinion of physicians have reached a normal condition of nourishment are denied further aid.

British Railmen Accept Wage Agreement in Part

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Delegates of railwaymen's unions have accepted the government's offer in settlement of wage demands made by employees in the lower grades of the service.

After the close of this morning's meeting of the delegates, J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said: "The conference has decided by a very narrow majority to accept the government's offer."

The delegates of the railwaymen reported the decision to Sir Eric Geddes, the Minister of Transport, after they had seen the minister's letter, Mr. Thomas said. "It is settled. It has been a very difficult job, probably the most difficult of all our tasks."

The government's offer accepted by the railwaymen maintains the sliding scale, and the wage is fixed on the average, not the maximum, pay. It makes, however, further concessions in the form of bonuses for women and some men, with an increase of a half crown in bonus to workers under eighteen years old.

Rumley Case Suspended

Government Orders the Prosecution Postponed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Prosecution of Dr. Edward A. Rumley, of New York, charged with violation of the trading with the enemy act, was suspended today by John E. Laskey, United States attorney, in the District of Columbia, under instructions from the Department of Justice. Attorney Laskey said Dr. Rumley was under suspicion of being in New York, where proceedings would continue.

The indictment charged that Rumley had withheld from the Alien Property Custodian the fact that he had custody of certain stocks in the U. S. Mutual Newspaper Corporation belonging to the German government, and was obligated to that government to the amount of $1,500,000.

$2,136,014 Given Cornell

New York Stands First in Fund Subscription

The Cornell endowment fund committee announced yesterday that subscriptions to the fund amounted to $2,136,014. There have been 997 subscribers so far, the average contribution being $2,142. The total stated was not including a gift of $150,000 for the new chemical laboratory at Ithaca, nor the $500,000 given for Cornell Medical College in New York.

New York stands first in totals subscribed, the amount being $1,049,883. Chicago is second, with $242,152. Fourteen Cornell alumni in Duluth subscribed $75,000.

Enver Pasha Reported Head of "Red" Revolt in Turkestan

GENEVA, Jan. 15.—Enver Pasha, former Turkish Minister of War, who was recently elected King of Kurdistan, has started a Bolshevik revolution in Turkestan, Afghanistan and Beluchistan, according to a telegram from Baku. Enver is said to have many followers and is directing his energies against British prestige in Southwestern Asia, the ultimate aim being India. Large sums of money, it is reported, have been furnished Enver by the Soviet government in Moscow.

This is the first time on record that a Bolshevik movement has been started by a monarch.

Smallpox Reported in 26 New Ontario Centers

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—Although the number of cases of smallpox under treatment in Toronto is steadily decreasing, it was announced today by the Provincial Health Officer that the disease has broken out in twenty-six new centers throughout the Province of Ontario. The province is still practically under quarantine and no person can enter neighboring provinces or the United States without a vaccination certificate.
